

Main Character: "Cinderella"

This is the player: they will have the opportunity to customize to an extent, and will be like Link in the sense that the MC's look will never change but there may be different outfits to choose from, and will have a very knightly vibe to it. More modern era clothing as well, as the dimension changes and there should be a lot of challenge to the characters being able to succeed in traversing this new dimension. "Cinderella" is just the code name given by the Fairy Godmother, and will be allowed to be changed at the designated point in the game via in-game keyboard/prompt. Maybe an opportunity for a funny easter egg if they choose a different character's name, or Cinderella anyways, but that's in the air right now.

Main Traits:

- Smart
- Fighter
- Funny/witty/quick

Will have funny banter with the Prince, but the player will have the opportunity to change their relationship with the Prince depending on how mean/nice they are in their responses to the Prince. Not incorporating romance or anything too bad, but if the Prince is treated too meanly, he will leave the party.